That Didn't Bar His Arrest For Treason.

Guthrie, I. T., Nov. 24.-A. J. Blackwell, a half-breed Cherokee, who imagines himself a prophet, sent by God to proclaim the second coming of Christ, is under arrest at Claremore, charged with high treason. His case is peculi-ar, and his offense perhaps the small-est on which anyone was ever tried for high treason.

Blackwell, to carry out his belief of his special calling by God, some time ago founded the town of Blackwell. near the Kansas line, and had built a church wherein was to be preached alone his peculiar doctrine. A month later he went over into the Cherokee nation, and started the town of David.

The Cherokee council recently passed law making it high treason for a herokee to sell real estate to an outsider. Although Blackwell asserts strongly that his doings have been all at the instigation of the Lord, he has been arrested and incarcerated on a The day of the trial has not been set.

DEVELOPED MUCH FRAUD. Failure of a Merchant in Oktaho

Guthrie, O. T., Nov. 24.-The failure of the Boston store, John Jacobs, proprie-tor, which was announced last night, tor, which was announced last night, has developed much fraud. The store was closed on attachments of several clothing and dry goods houses, and it was shown that but $2,000 asceta were on hand to show for the habilities amounting to over $0,000.

The receiver appointed has ascertained that before the failure large quantities of goods were shipped out of the state to other towns and hurriedly sold out. A search of Jacob's residence revealed trunks, filled with fine bolding cloths and other goods.

Joel Rosenbleet, a brother-in-law of Jacob's has been arrested in Perry, where in his branch store was found several large loads of goods, and a warrant has been issued for another relative in St. Louis to whom, it is alleged, goods were shipped before the failure.

Answer the "Sugar Questions."

Washington, Nov. 24.-Demurrers to the indictments against the two newspaper correspondents, Messers, J. S. Schriever, of the New York Mail and Express, and E. J. Edwards, of the Philadelphia Press, who refused to answer questions as to the source of the Information before the Sugar trust investigation, were filed today by Judge A. J. Dittenhoefer, their counsel. The day for the arguments in the case has not been set yet.

The demurrers are alike in both the indictments against the two news-cases. Twenty-four separate grounds of objection are set up. These include those heretofore made in behalf of brokers who refused to testify, and others particularly applicable to correspondents.

others particularly applicable to correspondents.

The demurrers urged that the Senate resolution fails to show that the investigating committee was empowered to try any senator for disorderly conduct, of that said inquiry was for the purpose of assisting the Senate in any legislative or judicial action. It is also set up that to answer the questions propounded to the correspondents would tend to criminate them and render them liable to a criminal prosecution, fine and penalty; would tend also to render them guilty of contempt of the Senate and of its members and liable to prosecution, fine and penalty, and would tend to degrade them in compelling them to disclose private, compelling them to disclose private confidential and privileged communica-

The point is also made that the power to punish for refusing to make answer cannot be delegated by the Senate to this court, or to any jury of the District of Columbia.

As the letter from Nannie Williams As the letter from Nannie Williams was written on July 4, and as her trunk arrived July 6, and was not taken out of the depot. Dr. Black concludes that the girls were probably murdered on July 5. He has been unable to fina any record of the marriage of Minnie Williams to Harry Gordon in Cook county, Illinois, and says that he has no doubt that Gordon, or Holmes, secured a bogus preacher and a bogus marriage Heense by which he fooled the girl. Soon after they were married, he believes, she was induced to give a deed to her property in Fort Worth, and after he had murdered the girl he went to he had murdered the girl he went to Fort Worth and sold the property, ex-cept one valuable lot on which he began the erection of a house. Dr. Black says that Holmes had no other object in view than to secure possession of the girl's property, and that the European trip was proposed to the girl so that when she wrote to her relatives and told about it, as she did, they would be thrown off their guard.
